Judge Decides Against "Serra" Note Makers

The decision of Justice of the Peace Ernest Michaelis of Monterey in the famous "Serra Pilgrimage" note case has been upheld by Superior Judge Fred A. Treat.

The case was brought about the action of Percy Parkes of this city who contested paying a note signed by him on the ground that said note was obtained by misrepresentation.

There were many others both here and in other parts of the peninsulas who made the same claim: This decision covers all these cases.

Carmel Martin to whom the note was made was awarded $57.63 on the note and $50 attorney fees.

CARMELITES INCLUDED

Special exhibitions which will be on view at the Chicago Art Institute until September 13, comprise the following: Individual exhibitions of paintings by Jessie Arms Botke, Cornelius Botke, Wellington J. Reynolds, Anna Lynch, Frederick F. Fursman, William Owen Jr., L. M. Brailowsky and other Russian artists; wood carvings by Charles Haag; water colors by Vlaminck, Signac and Foujita; etchings and lithographs by Alphonse LeGros. Also paintings from the private collections of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Neilson and Cyrus McCormick.

NO LEGAL ACTION YET

So far as can be ascertained from parties interest, no legal action is under way at present to halt the proceedings having to do with the proposed Ocean avenue - Carpenter street improvement.

It was thought for a time that possible errors in the preliminary proceedings might be used as the basis for an injunction suit, but nothing in that line has come to light.

As to the recent threat, it is claimed by some that even that recourse is out of the question, on the ground that officials cannot be recalled if their terms are within six months of expiration. If this is a fact it would apply in the case of the Carmel trustees, whose terms expire in April. An election could not be called in time.

Mrs. Josephine Rand Rogers of Carmel and San Jose, was one of the guests at the Diamond Jubilee authors' breakfast recently given by the League of American Penwomen in the gold room of the Fairmont Hotel in San Francisco. Among the four hundred prominent guests were Fanny Hurst, Cora L. Williams and the four presidents of the bay region branches of the league. The program was given by members of the American Penwomen.

County Tax Rate Slightly Reduced

In establishing the new county tax rate for 1925-6 the board of supervisors have reduced by one cent the rate of last year.

The new rate is $1.87½ in the incorporated cities of Carmel, Gonzales, King City, Monterey and Pacific Grove. All outside territory comes under the $2.27½ rate, the 40 cents additional being utilized for road construction purposes.

After setting aside a sum for the general fund, 1½ cents is alloted for a soldiers' memorial park fund, 10 cents for a county hospital fund, 46 cents for a school fund, a library fund, etc.

In a number of cases special levies are made to cover road district work and school bond payments.

READING OF ST. JOAN

Strikingly attired in a costume of the Joan of Arc period, Hedwiga Reicher appeared at the Golden Bough Theatre last Wednesday evening to give her inspiring reading of "St. Joan."

This outstanding work of the eccentric Irishman, Bernard Shaw, was produced in New York in 1923, in London in 1924, and in Paris in 1925. No play of recent years, not even "Androcles and the Lion" has aroused such comment, such discussion, such partisanship, as this characterization of Joan of Arc, concerning whom Shaw says in his startling preface that there could be only two opinions, "one that she was miraculous; the other that she was unbearable."

Next week's Pine Cone will publish a full review of the reading.

OUR NEW SCHOOL

There is now on display in the Pine Cone office a splendid architect's drawing of the new Sunset School building, which the public is invited to witness.

Rapid progress is being made in the construction of the magnificent $50,000 structure. Carmel will be proud of it.

Mr. Finnigan, of the firm of Finnigan & Herndon, the contractors, is hopeful that he will be able to turn over the building to the trustees, ready for occupation at the opening of the term in January.

GREAT SEAL OF STATE WAS ADOPTED IN MONTEREY

At this time, when all California is preparing to celebrate the state's Diamond Jubilee, the following interesting article by Anna G. Andresen appears in The Peninsula Herald:

It will no doubt be of interest to the people of Monterey to know that the Great Seal of the State of California was designed and adopted at Colton Hall, during the First Constitutional Convention which met in September, 1849. Just as the state of California was formed without the consent of Congress, so the Great Seal of State was adopted before California had a right to adopt such a seal. A committee had been appointed by Robert Semple, the president of the convention to receive propositions and designs for a state seal, but only one was offered.

The design was presented in the name of Caleb Lyons, a clerk, but it was afterwards discovered that not Lyons but Robert S. Garnett, an officer in the U. S. Army was the designer, and did not want to be known in the matter. The seal design was adopted on October 2, 1849. It contained the figure of Minerva, with the grizzly bear crouching at her feet feeding on a bunch of grapes; a miner with uplifted pick, a view of the Sacramento river with ships in it, the peaks of the Sierra Nevadas, thirty-one stars, and the word "Eureka."

MASONS ENTERTAIN THEIR FRIENDS

Ladies' Night held last Tuesday under the auspices of the Carmel Masonic Club in the Community Church clubhouse was a most enjoyable affair. More than two score men and women partook of the hospitality of the club.

An informal program, consisting of addresses and story-telling, conducted by Rev. Fred Sheldon, started the proceedings. D. Charles Gardner, chaplain of Stanford University, was the principle speaker. Professor Francis E. Lloyd told some of his stories, and others spoke.

When the guests and hosts gathered around the banquet table there was a fine spirit of friendliness and good cheer in evidence. With Mayor William T. Kibbler as toastmaster, speakers at the table were George H. Richardson, Dr. C. A. McCollom, W. L. Overstreet, C. K. Tuttle and others.

It goes almost without saying, that a good time was had by all.

CARMEL HAS NEW M. D.

Dr. P. A. Kocher, who has practiced for some years both in San Jose and San Diego, has decided to locate here and has established offices in the Postoffice building.

Notwithstanding Dr. Kocher is a young man, he has had splendid training and has had a great deal of experience in general practice. He is a graduate of Stanford University and of John Hopkins, did post-graduate work in Munich and Paris, and for three years was instructor in the University of California Medical school.

We welcome the doctor, but we have warned him that Carmel is a pretty healthy community.

OLD-TIMER LOCATED

There used to be a man in Carmel, Dave Von Needa by name, who was something of a character. He was a carpenter by trade, built some of the old time dwellings, conducted the bowling alley, and was a Socialist in politics. All of a sudden he dropped out of sight, no one knew what became of him. He has been discovered. Paul Wall had a letter from him a day or two age. He's in poor health, somewhat crippled and a guest at the Soldiers' home in Roseburg, Oregon. Old-timers, write to him. You know Dave was a SpanishAmerican war veteran.

Mrs. Marie Nelson Lee of Hollywood is visiting her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Guy O. Koepp.

All Protests Denied Bids Advertised For

By a unanimous vote the City Trustees at last Monday night's meeting passed the resolution ordering the improvement of upper Ocean Avenue and Carpenter Street. Not only that; they ordered the publication in this issue of the Pine Cone of a notice inviting sealed proposals to do the work.

What the outcome will be is problematical. Following the action of the board various plans were suggested for defeating the purposes of the resolution. An injunction, a recall election, a rehearsing and the presentation of a city-wide petition of protest were some of the actions proposed.

The action of the board was taken in the fact of two numerously signed petitions against the project, a telegram, and addresses by Attorney H. G. Jorgensen, Perry Newberry, Mrs. Johan Hagemeyer, F. C. Rockwell, Grant Wallace, Miss Caroline Kimball, Mrs. Gladys Young and several others.

During a lull in the preliminary proceedings H. G. Jorgensen, attorney for the protestants, quietly remarked that "this is as good a time as any to start the fireworks," and he did. He stated that the people he represented did not as a general proposition oppose the improvement. But they did take exception to payment for the work based upon the limited extent of the assessment district. He thought, that the improvement being of a general nature, every lot in the city should bear its part of the expense.

Perry Newberry's plea was along the same lines, but in concluding his remarks on two occasions he asked that the protestants be given the thirty days more to secure additional signatures of protest. The vote of the board denied this.

City Engineer H. D. Severance, called upon to explain his reasons for making the district as proposed, gave it as his opinion that the plan was just in every way. He pointed out that because of the many lots in the district the burden would be very light—lighter perhaps than if the whole city were taken in. This latter assumption is based upon two theories—the one, that in taking the whole city the assessment overhead would eat up the apparent reduction; the other, that if improvements proposed in other parts of the city were assessed in the same manner, the property owners in the Ocean—Carpenter district would have to pay their proportion.

What seemed to arouse the most resentment of the part of the protestants was the denial of the thirty days' postponement of action. Even some of the proponents thought this might have been granted.

Other business of the board: At the conclusion of the reading of the minutes, City Attorney Argyll Campbell, requested a correction concerning the names on the deed to the city of certain property. At this point F. C. Rockwell, a property owner, attempted to address the board. He was denied the floor, because, as Chairman Kibbler stated: "the board had business to transact." Rockwell thanked the board for its courtesy. (?)

City Clerk Saidee Van Brower reported that she had verified at Salinas the names on the City Manager referendum petition, that 117 were found correct, quite enough to make the document valid. Thereupon, the board refusing to rescind the ordinance, the referendum election was set for Monday, October 5, from 7 a. m., to 7 p. m., election officers appointed and a polling place designated.

A communication was received from Phil Wilson Jr., stating that after a month's trial, as agreed, he had decided to resign the garbage collection work. He will, however, retain the job until the trustees make other arrangements.

Informal discussion of other matters occupied the board until 11 p. m. They meet again next Tuesday night.

Wow! It was some session.

"And Now Comes Additional Opportunities"

It has been said that within the Circle of Enchantment, whose radius is but six miles, there is more scenic diversity and greater variety of delightful living-background than can be found in ten times that area anywhere in California. The Circle of Enchantment is another name for the Monterey Peninsula. One of its most charming communities is Carmel.

A sparkling beach, an ultramarine blue ocean, rocky cliffs, a cypress shore line, pine forests, mountains — a distinctive and varied topographical setting for a distinctive and varied community life—are what Carmel residents take unreservedly as their daily portion. No man-made agency can deprive them of the surroundings ,and there is little likelihood of change in Carmel's much-treasured scheme of living. Both are fixed quantities and qualities. And now comes additional opportunities in the realm of distinction. Below the Highlands, that vast unexplored wilderness drained by the Big Sur River, a road is pushing its way along and above the ocean to assured completion. It will be known as the Carmel-San Simeon Highway, and will connect Southern California with the Monterey Peninsula on an ocean-fringing route.

Men who know world's scenic values lose themselves in a sea of superlatives when trying to describe what this new highway will mean to the tourist searching for the unusual. Carmel will be its divisional terminus on the north. Carmel's fame has just started.

LA LOMA Terrace

LA LOMA is Carmel's newest and most "potential" home section. It commands views of sea, forests, mountains. It is easily accessible to all points on the Peninsula. It enjoys every convenience.

LA LOMA is five minutes' distance from the business district of Carmel. It is ten minutes from the center of Monterey. It is secluded, yet accessible in every sense. Coming from Del Monte on a paved highway you reach La Loma just before you begin the descent into Carmel. Living in La Loma ,you have the Monterey Peninsula and all that it offers at your command.

LA LOMA home sites are not lots. They are all adequately sized, laid out with reference to the natural contours of the land. Roads are there, not on paper.

Abundant water and electricity and telephone service are ready for the home builder. Get in touch with us and plan your home at La Loma now. The purchase terms conform to your means.

ART NOTES

SARGENT AND HIS WORK

The Laguna Beach Life in a recent issue says:

The daily press has given much space lately to the remarkable sale of paintings and drawings made in London recently of the works of the late John S. Sargent, the great American painter. Mr. Sargent, it will be recalled, died suddenly in his London home a short time ago. At the time of his death his estate was valued at $125,000, not including the paintings and drawings left in his studio and in his home. These have since been put up for sale and extraordinary scenes were witnessed at the auction, many bidders running up prices to enormous sums—small canvases selling for as much as $30,000. In all, the astonishing total of $830,000 was realized bringing the value of the estate up to $1,000,000. Mr. Sargent was born in Florence, Italy, in 1856. His father was an American physician who had established a practice in Florence. Throughout his entire life John S. Sargent remained proud of his American citizenship. His art education was begun under Carolus Duran, in Paris, but he was a traveler and in Spain found inspiration in the works of Velasquez and in Holland drew on the art of Hals. Before he was thirty he was an acknowledged master and well on the road to undying fame.

The Art Institute of Chicago possesses three paintings by Sargent, the most important of which is the portrait of Mrs. Swinton, which was done in 1906, when the painter was at the height of his power. Mrs. Swinton is the wife of an English officer. The painting is life size and the lady is standing, dressed in white satin, beside a French chair beautifully upholstered, which gives the proper color note to the picture. The sheen of the satin dress is wonderfully painted. Another portrait by Sargent is the gift to the Art Institute of the Friends of American Art. It is a portrait of Mrs. Charles Gifford Dyer, a small canvas painted in Venice in the year 1880, when the artist was just entering upon his successful career. In this painting the artist paid little attention to accessories, holding everything into the background excepting the face and hands, the latter resting upon her lap. There is a depth of spiritual insight shown in the pale features of the lady, with their large haunting eyes, set wide apart, and in the generous head, almost too large for the frail body. The third painting is also the gift of the Friends of American Art and is a figure picture entitled, "The Fountain," showing a woman artist painting upon a canvas placed on an easel, while a man in white shirt and white trousers looks lazily on. A fountain shoots a single large stream up in the air just over the man's head.

FAIRBANKS' ART DIRECTOR TO EXHIBIT HERE

Edward J. Langley, artist and art director for Douglas Fairbanks, will exhibit a splendid collection of his recent monotones this and tomorrow afternoon in the Ralph Davison Miller studio at Ocean Avenue and Camino Real.

Langley has spent virtually all of his spare time for two decades giving expression in Oils on canvas of the kaleidoscopic changes on the desert. He has caught such vagaries of the sagebrush and charparral country as its sand-storms, its terrific heat, its drenching rains, its gray and brilliant days, the bright tints of morn and the purple glow of eventide, the truthful depictions of which are readily apparent to those who have become familiar through personal association with the desert, and startlingly convincing to those who have not.

DENVER GETS 'EM.

Nothing seems to be too good for Denver—witness the Jugo-Slav, Mestovik, being brought to Coloradans. Read what a Denver critic says about one of their painter-teachers:

"Nothing quite so vivid in color has been exhibited for some time in Chappell house, home of the Denver Art Museum, as the paintings of Birger Sandzen, the well-known Swedish-American painter, whose presence in Estes park this Summer as head of the Estes park Summer school of the Chappell School of Art adds a more personal touch than is usual with the exhibitions hung by the museum.

NUTMEG STATE HAS OLD ART COLONY

One of the oldest are colonies in the United States is located at Old Tyne, Conn. It is a popular summer painting ground for artists from other states. Painters in the colony have their pictures now hanging in the local gallery and many of these will be sent to the forthcoming exhibition of paintings by American artists which will open at the Chicago Art Institute October 20 and continue until December 13.

Tomorow afternoon the public is invited to visit Arts and Crafts Hall to witness the exhibition of the work of the students of the Arts and Crafts summer school of art. The showing will continue for one week.

GREAT SEAL OF STATE

nia history, every symbol has some historic significance. The goddess shows, that as Minerva was not born, but sprang full armed from the brain of Jupiter, so California sprang full grown into the sisterhood of states, without a territorial childhood. The grizzly bear and the grapes signify peculiar characteristics of California. The miner with his rocker, shows California's golden wealth. The ships tell of her commercial greatness, and the mountain peaks show her beauty. The thirty-one stars indicate that California was the thirty-first state admitted into the Union. The "Eureka" (I have found), indicates that the pioneers after crossing the continent, found in California the wealth and beauty of all the world.

Major Garnett, the designer of the seal, had come to California in 1849, following meritorious service in the Mexican war. Being a Virginian he joined the Confederate army when the Civil War broke out, and was promoted to brigadier general. He was killed in action at the Battle of Carrick's Ford on July 15, 1861.

Dexter Park Donaldson, who has been here from Pasadena a month and a half, passed away early Thursday morning, a victim of heart failure. He was a native of Delaware, Ohio, and 68 years of age. The remains were shipped to Chicago.

Walter B. O'Connell of Carmel and Miss Adaline Rheinhart of Chicago were married in St. Mary's Church in Chicago on Saturday, August 29.

HASH

In which may be found most anything or nothing; sometimes to your taste—sometimes not. Concocted and served by IRRESPONSIBLE AL

Trustees had a hot session last Monday evening. Backfired over to the Pine Cone Tuesday A. M. Irate citizens demand we tell trustees they are lot of bums. Trustees say we should educate people to fact that Carmel is growing—because of some and in spite of others. We should tell them there is no such thing as standing still; either progress or go backward and die; story of stagnant pool, etc. Bill informs Mr. Citizen his asbestos gloves not working; pull out your own chestnuts. Says to Mr. Trustee, ditto. Then he writes articles asking Mr. Citizen why he doesn't acquaint Mr. Trustee with his desires before protest meeting is called. Meantime, citizen's indignation committee meets in our parlor and warps furniture with warm words.

Man says he doesn't want paved street in front of his property. Neither do we. Two full months have passed since rear spring was broken on Senseless Six. Time deadens pains of remembrance. Won't think of need of paved streets again until another spring breaks or head pushes through all-steel top of coach. Anyway baby likes sand that blows through open window. Piano makes fine place to draw pictures in dust. Besides, sanded finish on polished floors is conductive to long life; not so much danger of skidding.

Planted pretty red flowers on Dolores Street. Delivery boy drives past in Jew Packard. Ed Barnes comes next in House Cleaning Special. Green touring car is third. By this time flowers no longer red; in fact couldn't find exact shade listed on official color chart.

Yes, sand is good covering—for b..ches and such.

Fair Exchange? Real estate in Los Angeles is still skyhigh. Man offers to trade seven-room house located in that settlement for the Monterey Peninsula or the state of California or something. If you don't believe it, read the following "ad" clipped from a Peninsula daily.

EXCHANGE—Wanted Pacific Grove Monterey or property in this vicinity in exchange for my new Los Angeles 7-room bungalow. P. O. Box 65, Pacific Grove.

Life's tragedies. During half hour four authors go in postoffice. One comes out smiling with thin envelope in hand. Holds up to sun to get faint outline of check enclosed. Three exit with mouth drooping at corner, little lines in forehead. Do not hold bulky packages up to sun to see if manuscript was returned.

Certain paper carries slogan: "Like the pines, the Blank covers the Monterey Peninsula." We dare Bill O. to print on his: "Like the careless camper, the Pine Cone starts the fires." Bill says suggestion no good.

Workers of iniquity are overpaid.

The Curtain Shop

The large and growing demand for cretonnes for curtains and for other uses has made it necessary for Miss Brouhard to increase her stock of samples now on display at 433 Alvarado street, Monterey.—Adv.

ITEMS OF INTEREST

Mrs. Charles Duvall and daughter, Miss Ruth, of Wichita, Kansas, are in the city as guests of Mrs. Duvall's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Vaughn, and other relatives.

Mrs. Ruth Kuster is now on the briny deep, having sailed on Wednesday for Honolulu. She will be joined by Mr. Kuster in a few weeks. They will return about Christmas.

While there were some members of the Abalone League on the baseball team which was defeated at Capitola a short time ago, the team was not officially representative of the local league.

The guests of Mrs. Fred Carter of Pasadena, who has the Jackson house here, Mrs. Charles Thompson, and her two daughters, are on their way to Washington, D. C., to join Major Thompson.

Peter Pan Lodge on the edge of Wild Cat Canyon at Carmel Highlands is to have a companion house, now being erected by Mrs. W. B. Sheppard of Philadelphia, for some months a resident of the Highlands.

Mrs. Paul Flanders, who was called to St. Paul by the illness of her mother, Mrs. Frank J. Johnson of Chicago and St. Paul, reached her destination too late, her mother having passed away while Mrs. Flanders was en route.

Fletcher Sulzer, St. Louis artist, was a recent visitor here. His work has given him a splendid standing in the Middle West. While here he painted a number of Carmel gardens, which will be shown in St. Louis and elsewhere.

Mme. Anne Ruzana Sprotte, operatic contralto, was the guest of honor recently at a reception tendered by Mrs. S. B. Hunkins and Mrs. Romaine Hunkins. A large number of Carmelites and others were presnt. Mme. Sprotte sings at the Golden Bough on September 16.

MASONIC ANNIVERSARIES IN SEPTEMBER

This month offers many salient Masonic features and sheds a luster on the glorious traditions of the Fraternity. It is interesting to note that on September 18, 1793, the corner-stone of the United States Capitol was laid with impressive Masonic ceremonies. President George Washington officiated at the laying of the stone, the exercises being under the auspices of the Grand Lodge of Maryland. It is related that Washington wore the Masonic apron given him by General La-Fayette and which had been made and embroidered by Mm. La Fayette

The names of four former Presidents of the United States are contained in the September records of Masonic history. James Knox Polk, the eleventh President of this country, was made a Mason in Columbia (Tenn.) Lodge, No. 31, September 4, 1820.

James A. Garfield, whose progressive career as an able statesman was cut short by an assassin's bullet and whose death occurred September 19, 1881, at Elberton, N. J., was made a Master Mason in Columbus (Ohio) Lodge No. 30, November 22, 1864.

President William McKinley became a member of Winchester Hiram Lodge No. 21, Winchester, Va., on May 1, 1865. The assassination of McKinley, which was perpetrated at the Pan-American Exposition, just outside of Buffalo, N. Y., threw the entire nation into deep grief and September 6th marks the twenty-fourth anniversary of his death.

One of the most picturesque and virile characters to receive and fully exercise the high honor of Chief Executive of this mighty nation was Theodore Roosevelt, whose tenure of office extended from September 14, 1901 to March 4, 1909. His rugged and fearless personality is well known to nearly every American citizen. As a gallant officer in the Spanish-American War, as police commissioner of New York City, and as an intrepid hunter in the wilds of Africa, Brother Roosevelt always impressed those he came in contact with as being a typical American. He received the Masonic degrees in Matinecock Lodge No. 806, Oyster Bay, N. Y., January 2, 1901.

John Marshall, the first Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court, and who held that distinctive position for thirty-five years, was born September 24, 1755, in Fauquier County, Va. He received Masonic light in Richmond (Va.) Lodge No. 10, in 1783 and was made Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Virginia in 1793.

September 4, 1760, was the date upon which Paul Revere became a Mason in St. Andrew's Lodge of Boston, Mass.

Another distinguished member of the above lodge was Gen. Joseph Warren, who became a Mason September 10, 1761.

Nathan Hale, who bravely went to his execution expressing regret that he had but one life to give for his country, was made a Mason gratis as a reward for his patriotism, in old St. John's Lodge No. 1, Portsmouth, N. H. On September 22, 1776, he laid down his life for the sacred cause of liberty.

Gen. Rufus Putnam became a Mason in American Union Lodge, September 6, 1779.

Maj. Gen. John Sullivan of Revolutionary fame, was installed as Grand Master of Masons in New Hampshire April 8, 1790, but owing to ill health resigned this office on September 5, 1790.

Two days previous to the last date given DeWitt Clinton was raised to the degree of Master Mason in Holland Lodge No. 16.

Sir Walter Scott, who became a Mason in St. David's Lodge No. 36, Edinburgh, March 2, 1801, and who always took an active interest in the Fraternity, died at Abbotsford, Scotland, September 21, 1832.

The Duke of Wellington, whose death occurred at London, England, September 18, 1852, was made a Mason in Lodge No. 494 on the Irish Roll held at Trim in the county of Meath, December 7, 1790. It was Wellington's strategy and military effectiveness at Waterloo that caused the defeat and subsequent exile of Napoleon Bonaparte.

Gen. John A. Logan, who conspicuously served during the Civil War, became a member of Menton (Ill.) Lodge No. 64, September 6, 1851, and of Washington Chapter No. 3, Chicago, Ill., September 11, 1885. Gen. John A. Rawlins, another distinguished Civil War officer, died at Washington, D. C., September 9, 1869. Brother Rawlins was a member of Miners Lodge No. 273, Galena, Ill., and served as Secretary of War under President U. S. Grant.

The late Thomas R. Marshall, 33, former Vice-President of the United States, whose recent demise removed from the ranks of Masonry one of its most distinguished and beloved sons, was made a Master Mason in Columbia City (Ind.) Lodge No. 189, on September 5, 1881. He was made an honorary Thirty-third Degree Mason of the Northern Masonic Jurisdiction, September 20, 1898 and became an Active Member of the Northern Supreme Council, September 21, 1911.

The River

FROM the Great Lakes to the Gulf, America's greatest river flows majestically. Through the heart of the country it takes its course, broadening and deepening as lesser rivers empty their flow into its current. Farms and cities on its banks find it a source of industry and a means of supply.

Through the country runs another river, as continuous as the Mississippi in its flow. It is the river of thought which, day and night, moves through the land and vitalizes the national life. Its source lies in the people's knowledge that communication with all parts of the country is possible. It is a stream that deepens and broadens and grows stronger as thought is added to thought, as the mind of one community joins the mind of another.

America's national telephone system is a channel for this river, for Bell System service unites all sections of the country. It leaves no gap in the pathway of communication. It knows no off-duty hours, nor any corner of the nation that is too remote to be reached.

LABOR DAY

NEXT Monday, the nation pays its respects to Labor. It is a holiday for people who work. How broad can this definition of Labor be made? Naturally, as well as customarily, the man with the overalls and dinner pail is expected to lead the parade. But who else ought to be given a position in the great parade of humanity seeking recognition because of the willingness as well as of the necessity of earning a living by the sweat of the brow?

The mother who cooks the meals, keeps the house and nurtures the children ought to be in that parade.

The humblest shoveler of dirt is entitled to carry a banner alongside the skilled mechanic.

The man or woman who toils in store and office, the bookkeeper, the writer, the preacher, the editor, the doctor, the educator, the farmer,—all must fill the ranks if we are to have Labor Day stand for all that it should.

The honest and thrifty promoter works no less than his laboring brother in creating and promoting those worthy enterprises that give employment to men, homes to women and milk to babies, and that help make the wheels of the world go round.

Indeed, even the "Idle Rich" may so control their wealth that it may be put to use, not only in accomplishing the means of more profit, but by allocating their benevolences for the advancement of science, the promotion of health, the increasing of happiness, and the elimination of class consciousness. This itself is a profession attainment. This is constructive effort which is work.

Labor Day stands not only in commemoration of those who have toiled, but it stands to dedicate this nation to the principle that extreme youth and frail womankind shall not toil to the detriment of themselves and society.

The true significance of Labor Day fails unless these obligations are imposed, and unless all who engage in honest labor are entitled to a rightful place in its celebration.

OUR GLORIOUS STATE

NEXT Wednesday's 75th anniversary of the admission of California into the Union of states is an event that should stir the patriotism not only of every native of the state, but of the many thousands of residents of California who have been attracted from every other state in the union and from many other lands and have become substantial citizens of the commonwealth.

Owing to the lack of adequate railroad facilities in the early statehood days of California the state was slow in progress, but in more recent years the forward movement of the golden state probably has been more rapid than that of any of her sister states.

With a nucleus of only a few thousand intrepid Argonauts and their descendants, making up small and scattered cities and communities, California has grown until there are within its borders approximately 4,000,000 people, while San Francisco and Los Angeles are the greatest cities on the Pacific coast.

The state is golden in its traditions, in its progress and in its opportunities. It maintains its right to the title of the golden state, given it as a result of the great gold discoveries of the middle of the last century, because it continues to produce more of the yellow metal than any other state.

And it is fitting that the Jubilee celebration should be held in the city of St. Francis.

A STATEMENT OF FACT

THOUGH the eventful benefits derived from public improvements are always adequate, the initial proceedings invariably work hardships on those least able to bear them. It is so in all human endeavors. Sometimes contemplation of these hardships are exaggerated, as in the case of the lady at the city trustees' meeting last Monday night. When it was decided to put through the Ocean-Carpenter improvement, the lady remarked that the action meant that she would lose everything she owned.

That is not so. We do not know how much frontage the lady owns, but assuming that she owns two lots, it is safe to say that the assessment will not be in excess of one hundred dollars. Under the 1911 Act the property owner has ten years in which to pay the assessment. Ten dollars a year (with interest) will not confiscate anyone's property.

Rising Young Star Fond of Cooking

Claiborne Foster, that clever little lady who makes Barry Connors' play, "Applesauce," the outstanding comedy success of the year, is an extraordinary young woman. She is generally recognized as one of the rising young stars of the American stage and her services and company are always in demand but such is her nature that she shuns the "bright lights" and leads a simple and unostentatious life wherever she may be. She is essentially a home girl, being passionately fond of cooking, an art at which she is very adept, and much of her leisure time is spent in the modest little kitchenette of her apartment. When not playing in some production, Miss Foster may be found at her home a short distance from New York city, where she revels in the joys of cooking for the whole family and her friends and spends her vacations doing the work of the ordinary housewife.

Claiborne Foster.

There are two dishes which are regarded with more favor by Miss Foster, than are any others. These are Bronk shrimps and chicken en casserole. She uses the simplest of formulas but insists upon the purest of ingredients, using pure butter, and evaporated milk. The recipes that she uses are:

Bronk Shrimps.

2 cups shrimps, canned or fresh	Yolks 2 eggs
4 tbsp. fat	½ cup evaporated milk
½ tsp. salt	½ cup water
Few grains cayenne	1 tbsp. flour
	2 tsp. lemon juice

Clean the shrimps, and cook in half the fat for 2 minutes; add seasoning and lemon; cook 2 minutes longer. Remove shrimps and make a white sauce of the remaining fat, flour and milk; when thickened add yolks of eggs slightly beaten, stirring in quickly and cooking two minutes; add the shrimps.

Chicken en Casserole.

1 tender chicken for roasting	1 cup evaporated milk
2 tbsp. butter	1 tbsp. chopped parsley
2 tbsp. lard	2 cups chopped mushrooms
Salt and pepper
1 pint hot water

Clean chicken, split down back, and lay breast upward in casserole. Spread fat over breast, dust with salt and pepper, add hot water, cover closely and cook in hot oven one hour. When nearly tender put in evaporated milk, mushrooms and parsley. Cover again, and cook 20 minutes longer. Serve hot in casserole.

"The Lovely Lady," Jesse Lynch Williams' most recent play, written in Carmel, is scheduled for production in New York this evening. It is said to be a fitting companion piece to "Why Marry."

Make Your Iron Lighter

Ever notice how your iron grows bigger and heavier after you have been shoving it over your ironing board an hour or two.

Del Monte Laundry's "Rough Dry" service saves you the labor of ironing—it smooths and dries, ready for use, all the flat work, towels, hosiery and underwear.

Ask our drivers about this service and its low cost.

Grass Fire In North Carmel

The fire siren was heard for the first time in quite a while last Wednesday. The old story: boys playing with matches started the dry grass burning in a lot in North Carmel. No damage was done, as the fire laddies were there before the echo of the siren had died out, and their efficient attack made short work of extinguishing the blaze.

HISTORIC COLLECTION FATE IS NOW IN DOUBT

Much interest has been aroused in Lincolnia recently concerning the final disposition of the famous Oldroyd collection of Lincoln relics, which have been on exhibition for many years in the house in Washington, D. C. where Lincoln died.

Captain Osborne Oldroyd has spent a lifetime in gathering together these mementos of Lincoln, which now number over five thousand pieces. The collection is generally regarded as one of the most valuable, if not the greatest, of Lincoln relics in the world. It includes besides almost every book, doclument, picture and cartoon of the Emancipator such things as his family Bible, desk, chair and cook stove. Years ago Captain Oldroyd was persuaded to take his collection to Washington, anticipating that it would eventually be purchased by Congress. He has been acting as Custodian of the collection and many thousands of people from all over the world have been visiting the place where it is housed and have shown the greatest interest in the collection. The house is owned by the government. It is a tiny red brick building, formerly known as the Peterson Boarding house, which, in the old days was a resort of actors and where the assassin John Wilkes Booth was frequently to be seen. The collection has grown to be so large that the space is entirely inadequate and there is much congestion, thereby greatly detracting from the effectiveness of the exhibition.

Captain Oldroyd is about eighty-three years old and his greatest desire is to see his collection given the best possible home before his death. He has been repeatedly offered large sums of money by wealthy men from various parts of the country, but has refused all such offers because he was not willing to have his collection taken to some place where it would not have the proper historic setting.

A bill has been introduced in Congress for the purchase of this collection, but favorable action has not yet been taken on the same. At the last session of the Illinois Legislature a bill was passed appropriating $50,000 for the purchase of the Oldroyd collection.

This valuable collection should find its final resting place in Springfield, where a suitable home for it could undoubtedly be found. It could later be determined whether or not it should be exhibited in Lincoln's old home or in the Centennial Building or some other appropriate place. Surely if it were taken to Springfield it would add a very great attraction to that city, and the collection would undoubtedly be a center of interest and be visited by innumerable admirers of Lincoln from all over the world.

Miss Katharine Renshaw, for a year a valuable member of the Golden Bough staff, has gone to her home in Berkeley to remain for some time.
